

S4-P.8

Bioengineering the Dream

R. Negoescu

National Institute of Public Health, Romania

In REM sleep medullary centers are seemingly overridden by a dramatically shaped neural inflow of cortical origin on a background of increased dual autonomic tone, giving substance of REM interpretation as a sui generis mental arousal that may elicit arrhythmias during “tensed” dreams.